We hope this forum can be a place where users discuss their experience with the Wicked Edge Precision Sharpener and where a community will develop around the common passion of razor sharp knives. If you come across a technical challenge or if you find a solution to one, please post it here for everyone to see. We'd also love to see your results so if you have pictures or videos of your Wicked Edge sharpened knives, please post 'em! Thanks and welcome to the forum.

Wish I could claim that the one that just cost me stitches came from the WEPS, but it came from the EP.

Hi all, I received my WEPS last week, and have been sharpening ever since.I have already found out that this is addictive and I'm gonna have to add some accessories to my pro kit.

Which accessories are you looking at? And do you have a Costco-size box of band-aids??

I'm gonna order the the 1200/1600 ceramic stones in the next day or so and then next month addd the Shapton stones. I have a box of knives and a few straight razors i've been buying over the last year or so to restore.

I got the ceramics ordered too but the price of the shapton stones has me hoping that stroppng will get the knives plenty sharp. I only have a few knives that could possibly need a surgical scalpel kind of sharpness. I have been looking into straight edges again ....

I am a retired building contractor living in a small town (Clinton) in Arkansas. I live on Culpepper Mountain which is about 3 miles from Greers Ferry Lake. I have always had an interest in knives, but was never as good at sharpening as I wanted to be. I just ordered the WE sharpener and hope it give me the edge Iv'e always wanted to get on my knives. I am trying to get a good convex edge.

LeoNow, Leo, you should be more clear for our new friend. There are two soons at work here. The first soon is an arbitrary time interval referenced from the event of now when it is spoken to some expected event in the future--said event being when your WEPS arrives at your doorstep

. The interval of time between that event pair is a nebulous thing, with thin, whispy tendrils of certainty wrapped around dense monoliths of uncertainty. How soon soon
is is, in a word, unknowable, but management encouragement keeps us hanging on.

Now, the second soon is that interval of time between getting your WEPS and opening it (and setting up and using it successfully), which translates into happily.

I'm guessing that interval is about 60 seconds!!
