Using The Forums!

I have noticed a few people say they can't upload photo's etc.

So perhaps some "how to" info here might be nice.

I have limited knowledge, but will share what I know.

The site uses "bbcode", so each side of your text there are words/letters in brackets to perform each operation.

www.bbcode.org/reference.php

Renamed the link, here.

You can use a word or words instead of the usual url link, so the sentence flows.

Where it says "text" your message goes.

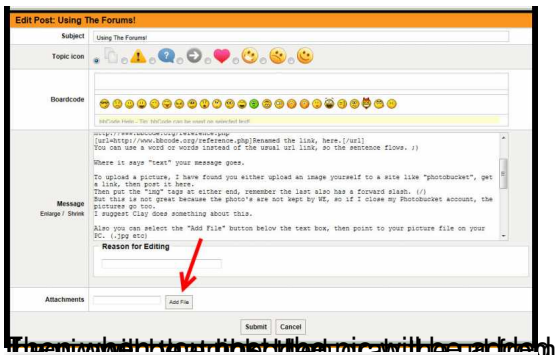
To upload a picture, I have found you either upload an image yourself to a site like "photobucket", get a link, then post it here.

Then put the "img" tags at either end, remember the last also has a forward slash. (/)

But this is not great because the photo's are not kept by WE, so if I close my Photobucket account, the pictures go too.

I suggest Clay does something about this.

Also you can select the "Add File" button below the text box, then point to your picture file on your PC. (.jpg etc)



Then upload the image to the WE site, and present a link in your post.
If you grab that link from your browser and add the [img] tags, the pic will be embedded.
Untick the attachment box.

Then untick the attachment box

[illegible] should know that you are pointing to a pic and do the work for [illegible] the forum content by preventing editing of a post after a 24hour

Chris,

Have you tried IE10? I just tried on Windows 8, and it won't even let me add an attachment (or an emoticon for that matter).

Trying IE10 on Win8 via VMware.

edit - OK, it is the same as IE9 for me.

You get the "navigate to a file" option, but then nothing.

If you select a file and "submit" anyway, it adds as an attachment.

No, C;/blah,blah,blah/path or "insert" option appears.

I've sent this thread over to our webmaster to see if anything can be done. I've got another question: why do user's karma points drop?

I'm curious... since this is being sent to the webmaster... is this the only option available for forum software? It seems, from the few forums I've been on, there are better options? But I don't know the "behind the scenes" process.

Good question. I don't know if there are other forum solutions for our platform. This is the one that the web company chose but maybe there are more options. I've asked him to read through this thread so maybe he can jump into the conversation.

The big ones use VBulletin, but big $$$$.

www.vbulletin.com/

Look down the bottom of Blade forums. (powered by)

www.bladeforums.com/forums/forum.php

I can't see why the current forum here isn't enough for the small amount of traffik you get now.

Because you also have a "-" (minus) button which takes away a vote.

Test it on mine.

Now I have to try Safari....

Edit: Seems to work like Chrome.

(Oh well, if you believe all the tech pundits.... Win 8 is going to kill Microsoft anyway).

Yes, but why on earth are people taking votes away?

Funnily enough, it quite possibly could.

First time in my life that I am not running a new release OS on my primary PC.

Without a Surface tablet, it is not wanted here.

I have Beta/RC tested it for many months and have a Technet subscription. (free keys)

Perhaps when I get a Surface Pro?

I have not tried IE 10, but I have noticed in IE 9 that I have to run the forums here in compatibility mode for everything to work. Compatibility mode in IE 9 presents it as IE 7.

Does IE 10 have such a feature...compatibility mode ?

Sure does Phil, and that is a temporary solution.

Well done!
