Is this site slow for anyone else?
Posted by cbwx34 - 16 Feb 2013 16:44

Just curious if its on my end or what. Seems like most times I click on something, I have to wait a looooooooooong time for it to appear. Not everytime, but more often than not. Sometimes it's painful. ☹ Been that way for a couple weeks now.

Anyone else seeing this? I've eliminated that it's the computer (tried different) my internet (tried different), so wonder what the deal is.

Things seem to be straightening out now after a very rocky transition. We still have a few glitches here and there, but most seems okay and the speed seems much better. I'd love any additional feedback you guys have.

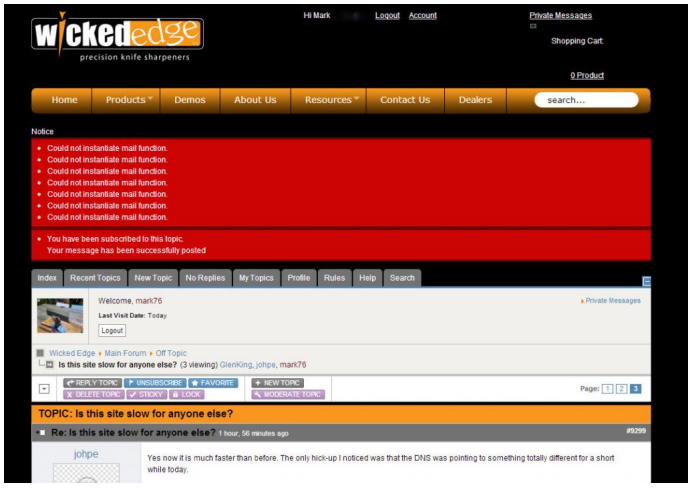
I guess this is a side-effect of the upgrade?



I jinxed myself... after my last post, (and unchecking the "Subscribed" box), I also got the top red part... the 6 "mail function" errors.

I'm blaming Mark!

It's to do with the PHP installation on the new server. Tech support for the server is working with our web guy to resolve it.

Yep, fast.

Green alerts of new posts works properly.

Red "could not instantiate . . ." Remains . I know it's being worked on, just a FWIW.

Great, thanks for the feedback! Now if we can get our blasted email sorted out, it will all be worth the disruption. The increased speed is definitely a big plus.

Testing the PHP installation, hoping not to get the big wall of red.

Edit: Looks good! Please report if you see any issues. Thanks everyone for your help through the transition!

I need to change the title...

"Is this site too fast for anyone else?"

It loads so quick now, that if there's not a new post, or I don't catch a time stamp change, I miss it!

Birds are more cheerful...

I'm drinking less coffee... no longer waiting...

Friends say I seem happier....

It does really seem much quicker!

I didn't do any performance tests. But although the site may still not be as blazingly fast as some other sites, it seems as if the long delays in which you could get a cup of coffee are gone.
