New blade
Posted by ToJo - 25 Mar 2012 17:33

Here's my new Edmund Davidson I picked up this week.

==========

Re: New blade
Posted by leomitch - 25 Mar 2012 18:07

Great picture! Tell us about it! What kind of wood is that in the handle? Specs? Blade steel? Stuff like that.

Cheers

Leo

==========

Re: New blade
Posted by ToJo - 25 Mar 2012 18:36

The blade design is his 20th anniversary design. The steel is CPN 154-CM, and the handles material is box elder.This is an Integral design blade, If you not familiar with the integral, th e blade is all one piece with only the handles being attached. The overall length is 9" and the blade is 4", the blade thickness is .25" I'm fortunate enough that he only lives 40 miles from me., but to get one of his knives requires a 4 year wait. Some of his blade have sold for $50,000. Hard to believe.. Check out his work

www.edmunddavidson.com

==========

Re: New blade
Posted by jendeindustries - 25 Mar 2012 19:21

Those are some sweet looking knives!!!

I'm sure they're worth the wait!

==========

Re: New blade
Posted by martinlind - 02 Aug 2012 23:21

---

nice knife:)

==========

Re: New blade
Posted by mark76 - 03 Aug 2012 01:57

Beautiful! Also curious about the specs.

==========

Re: New blade
Posted by KenBuzbee - 03 Aug 2012 14:24

That is just drop dead gorgeous!

Congratulations!

Ken

==========