this is the old arms

this is the old arms

you can see how much play there is so i made up some new arms out of 1/4 " bar (the old ones are 6 mm ish) and some new joints new joint in clamp :

and new arm in joint .

this made sharpening feel much more positive and can only help (i think)
