Gerber 06

Posted by hitman102 - 30 Sep 2011 23:16

Hello gentlemen. Ralph here, and new to the forum. I'm 48, married, 3 kids, and live in the greater KC area.

Work as a manager in the service department for an auto repair facility. Long time GM auto worker with the UAW / USWA.

I recently retired an old Buck 422 that I carried for years and have replaced it with a new Gerber 06 (made in USA of course) I really like the feel and operation of the knife, but the edge is for crap. The factory grind is rough and asymetrical. Quite the norm for a factory blade these days from what I've been reading.

I must have watched Clay's videos a dozen times now and I'm wondering where I can get my Gerber sharpened to a wicked edge? Any help would be much appreciated. Thanks.

==========

Re: Gerber 06

Posted by komitadjie - 01 Oct 2011 02:43

Where in the US are you, Ralph? I'm sure ONE of use with a WEPS is somewhere nearby.

==========

Re: Gerber 06

Posted by hitman102 - 02 Oct 2011 21:29

Kansas City, Kansas

==========

Re: Gerber 06

Posted by wickededge - 03 Oct 2011 15:05

Hi Ralph,

You can always send it in to us at the shop.

--Clay

==========

Re: Gerber 06

Posted by hitman102 - 04 Oct 2011 20:43

_____

Thanks a bunch Clay. I sent it off to you today. It should be there by the end of the week.

I appreciate the help. Now I know it will come back with a Wicked Edge!

==========